Full of. . . Spirit

1989-90

The mission of the college from its beginning has been to demonstrate the meaning of Jesus Christ by offering a caring educational community in which each individual may achieve the highest intellectual and personal growth, and by participating responsibly in our world's events.

STUDENT LIFE

Community Service

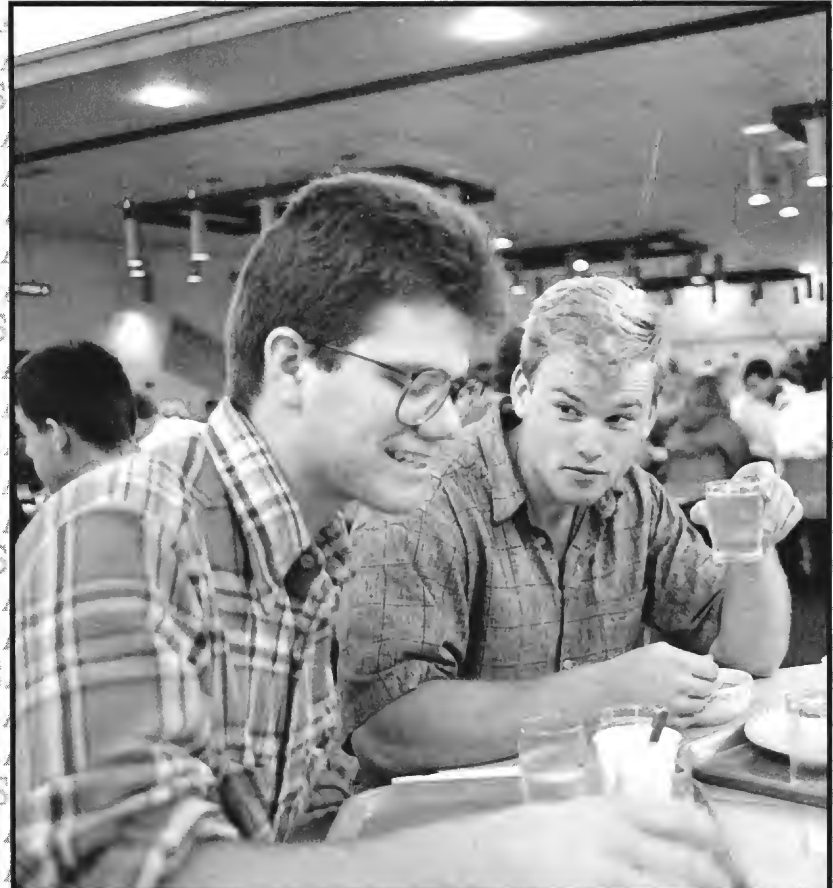

A successful blood drive brought recognition to GFC for the donation of 94 productive units out of 127 perspective donaters. Of those 94 donations 26 were first time donaters. GFC's goal was to reach 85 registered donaters---exceeding the goal by far!!

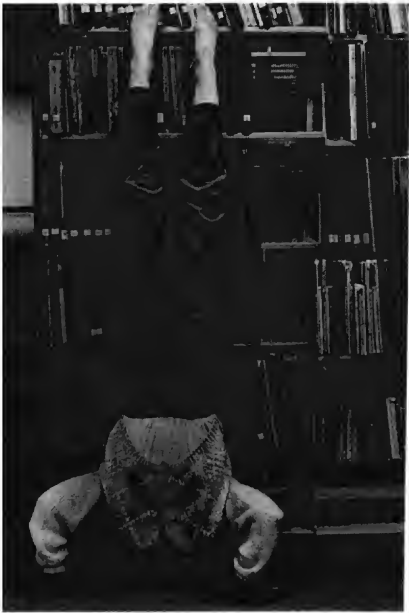

This year students felt the need to involve GFC community with the community of Newberg. A successful attempt to bind the two communities was accomplished by an organized Work Day made up of volunteer students, organized by Todd McKee, student chaplain. Students helped out by raking leaves, cleaning drain gutters, weeding, mowing, washing cars, and washing windows.

PEOPLE

RA's retreat to the mountains on Walkabout to learn about themselves and others. RAs surround themselves in the isolation provided by nature so they can concentrate on the lessons of leadership. Fun times, quiet times, reflecting times. Guided and led by the experienced and intrepid HMS RD, George Meyers and the technical experience of Don Cossel. And of course, always looking forward to an awaiting hot shower upon the arrival home.

Communications

This page is committed to the continual dedication of the chaotic tyranny of the Communication Departments. After every last minute, late night deadline is met, after the last layout page is completed, after the last photo is processed, the last studio session recorded, after the last record has been cued, everything is put on the shelf and collects dusts until the next group of dedicated, hard working fools come a long. Music Comedy Night

Student, faculty, administration and staff go all out to strut their stuff, or whatever they could muster to entertain at Music Comedy Night. Eric Edmundson, MCing, introduces performing talents such as the perplexing, double identities of Dr. Howard, the graceful stride of Donna West, and the gargling trio of Chris Kilpatrick, Paul Seideman and Steve Miller.

Women's Basketball

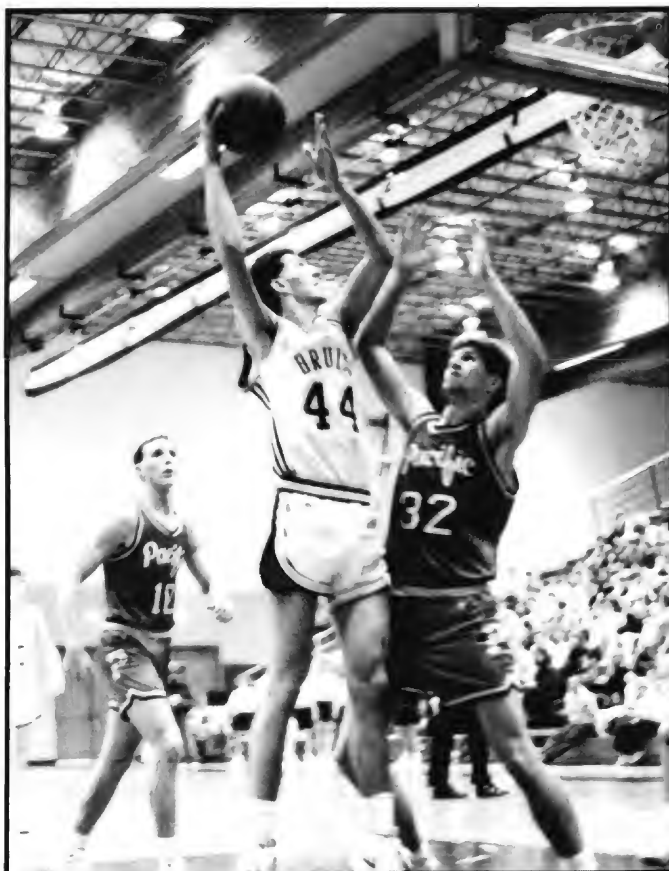

Refined grace and stamina lead women's basketball to the top of the league. Women's basketball take control of the game to show that they are truly champions and masters of the sport.

T EAM S PIRIT

Once again the men's basketball team prove themselves to be lethal. Earning the recognition as a well refined team, they work their way to the top. They are to be revered as worthy rivalry for any team.

“TRULY” FULL OF SPIRIT

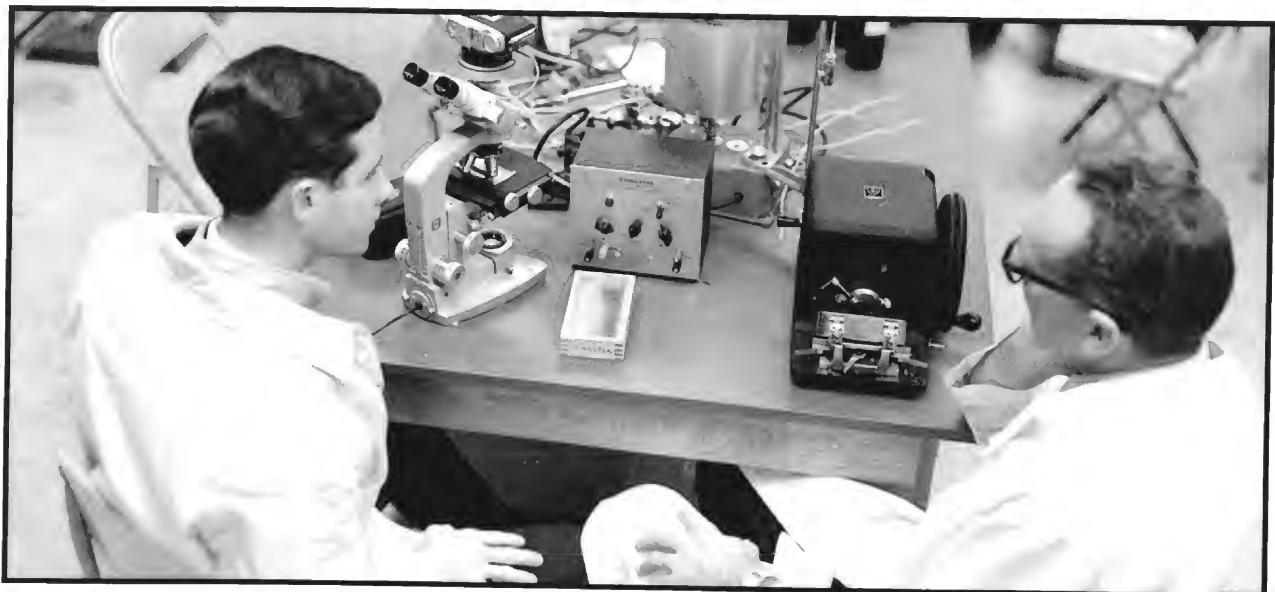

In the Spirit of Christ

Long after the test tubes are cleaned and stacked, the biology tables given a final wipe down, the lights turned out and the doors locked, students are given a chance to stop and reflect on the wealth of knowledge gained from a single man, Professor Elver Voth. His spirit will remain as testimony of dedication to the enrichment of the student's academic, personal and spiritual growth. Dr. Voth's entire life was a portrait that was shared and became an encouragement, challenge and influence to many individuals. An illustration of devotion to, first and foremost, teaching the studied subject as well as life. Something the students would take far beyond a classroom. In him there was dedication to diligence, excellence, faithfulness, and humility that all of his students could clearly see and follow. All who crossed his path were touched and inspired by his caring devotion. To try to list all of his awards, accomplishments and achievements would be in vain. Dr. Voth went beyond what many could even attempt in two life times. The greatest reward that any man could receive is being able to see the legacy that he has left behind. Dr. Voth had just a glimpse of what we and history will see and feel for many years to come because of his many triumphs.

Elver H. Voth
January 10, 1923 - August 15, 1989

Jack L. Willcuts
April 27, 1922-September 23, 1989

Jack Willcuts...father, counselor, writer, pastor's pastor, servant, friend and silent mentor to many. The joy of his life was counseling and preaching, telling the good news of the Gospel and of the love of Jesus Christ. His honesty, integrity, and prophetic creativity was a model for us all. He taught us by his life, his words, his humor, his fierce love for God and loyalty to Quaker distinctives. Arthur O. Roberts, in loving memory of Jack Willcuts, presented the above poem, which best provides a glimpse into the life of a man who gave so much to so many, with little regard for his own personal gain.

*We took him for granted
like electricity.
A power outage
leaves the world darker,
its machinery silenced.*

*So, now at his passing
we reexamine how things
human and divine connect.
We scramble to adjust-awed
by his energizing life.*

*Our friend seemed like a hub
from which our separate lives,
our various enterprises,
family, church, or otherwise,
like spokes radiate outward
to be joined at a common rim.
We've enjoyed a smooth journey,
and acknowledge now the centering power of his quiet spirit.*

*The storyteller steps off stage,
and the enraptured audience
folds newly discovered truths between program notes touched by tears and laughter.
God's messenger returns,
but the message remains:
good news for the home,
for the village, for the city,
Christ for the whole world!*

*Our friend Jack, suddenly,
like an autumn sun,
has slipped below our horizon.*

But oh, the afterglow!
